

Check List of Psychological Maladies

Listed below find five most common abnormal personality traits, any three normally render any individual to be unfit to serve in public office.

Have you noticed or recognize any of the following conditions
That Best Match Director Berg's personality disorders?

Inferiority complex - an unrealistic feeling of general inadequacy caused by actual or supposed inferiority in one sphere, sometimes marked by aggressive behavior in compensation.

Narcissist - a mental condition in which people have an inflated sense of their own importance, a deep need for excessive attention and admiration, troubled relationships, and a lack of empathy.

Obsessive/Compulsive Disorder - a personality disorder characterized by excessive orderliness, perfectionism, attention to details, and a need for control in relating to others.

Contemptuous - Contempt is a pattern of attitudes and behavior, often towards an individual or group, but sometimes towards an ideology, which has the characteristics of disgust and anger. The word originated in 1393 in Old French contempt, contempt, from the Latin word contemptuous meaning "scorn".

Napoleon Complex - overly aggressive or domineering social behavior, such as lying about earnings, and carries the implication that such behavior is compensatory for the subject's physical or social shortcomings.

A quick count reveals that J.R. Berg's possess all and likely more examples of such abnormal traits and tendencies. We don't have to go far to find J.R. Berg's maladies. There are ample examples to be found on J.R. Berg's private, and let's not forget "Educational Website" which are replete with many examples far too numerous to list here.

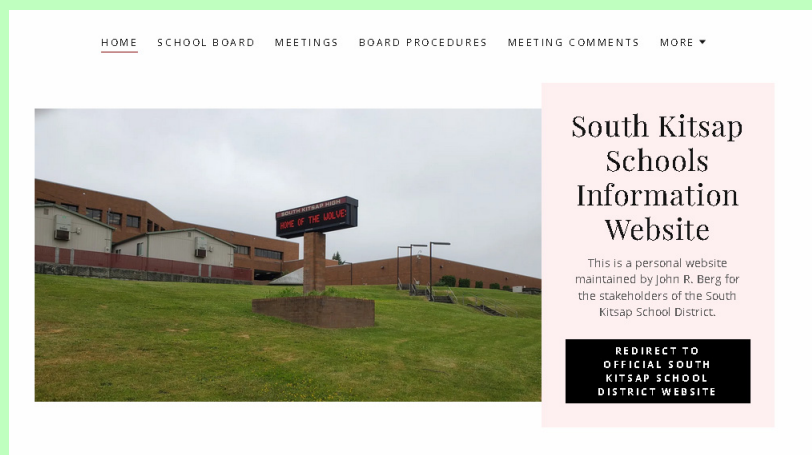

Many of J.R. Berg's posts and writing focus specifically on at least four individuals in our community, one being a fellow board director. J.R. believes these individuals "are after me", "are out to get me", "that they all hate me", and "that they are always attacking me". It is also most interesting that J.R. is always speaking about himself in the second person character.

By now we all know that J.R. Berg loves to sling the crap at others, loves to label, libel, and slander others. The he uses his website to cyber stalk and cyber bully those who disagree with his views, or those that stand up to this poor wimpy and lonely old man. In short, J.R. loves to play the role of the victim. This victim trait undoubtedly followed him from a distressed and highly disturbed childhood. Moreover, when others take a moral or character inventory of "His Issues", he then cowers and begins to spew vile comments and without exception, claims that he is the one being attacked.

Here are but a few examples extracted from J.R. Berg's own personal (and educational) website to illustrate that Mr. Berg Demonstrates all of the above listed "Abnormal Personality Traits"

J.R. Berg's Victim & Wall of Shame

Attacks Against Director Berg

Attacks Against Director Berg

Shown below are attacks against Director Berg. The outcome of the attacks or Director Berg's responses are included.

Director Daily Accuses Director Berg at an April 2021 Board Meeting

Jump to Details

CSSKS and Larry Mann file ethics complaint with the National Association of Parliamentarians

Jump to Details

CSSKS and David Kimble file complaint with the Public Disclosure Commission

Jump to Details

Director Daily's remarks when Director Berg was nominated to be Board President on October 20, 2021

Jump to Details

Director Daily's remarks of November 3, 2021 at the Board meeting.