Board member complaints reflect on his performance

I read Mr. Daily's letter to the editor that was published in the Kitsap Sun. ("Could South Kitsap schools have avoided current budget crisis?")

I'm a bit confused when he asked about the people who supposedly "watch" the district finances. Is Mr. Daily not on the school board? Wouldn't that be part of his job as an elected official? If he doesn't want to do the job he was elected for, then maybe he should step down and let someone else do it.
