

THE RAUNCHY, THE ROWDY REGULAR SKSD BOARD MEETING

It was business as usual at the last SKSD Board Meeting held on July 19, 2023. News presenting issues of concern, followed by steady flow of succinct and caustic comments from the same usual suspects on the board. This time even Superintendent got into the foray.

Below are some of those not so kind and gentle moments in exchanges with both Wilson, Daily, and Winter at the 07-19-26 board meeting. I grabbed the snips of 19th meeting where Wilson was going "resolution" as we waited for that R bomb to go off. And then of all things, Superintendent Winter also joined in the foray, apparently in efforts to stir up Director Daily.

<https://youtu.be/5NLWgSbzdbo> Arguments proceeded regarding claims by Director Wilson that a board resolution was need so that the board could vocally support (or oppose) the bond. A promise by Wilson that he'd have that resolution by the next board meeting on August 2, 2023.

Somewhere in here Director slips on his Roberts Rules Hat (and big black bow-tie) and flops a motion down to check with the legal folks to be sure the board is not stepping in it if the do this.

https://youtu.be/4GIx\_6lbEYw Winter contrasts Daily being a director and now a chair of a committee opposing the bond. Answer is doing chair and opposition as private person not identifying and speaking as board member is key.

<https://youtu.be/xZdRY3F4U84> Wilson Gloats about two PDC complaints being dismissed using school board time to address his personal issues and done after the public comment portion of the meeting had already occurred.

<https://youtu.be/UudCoL60kbs> Superintendent Winter disclosing that BLRB went out of business back in June and now is telling us during 07-19-23 meeting. And that one of former employees of BLRB opened his own business (at his home address) and is taking over what is left of BLBR contract work. Daily argues that the board did not follow their own policies, rules, procedures for changing contractors.

That pretty much sums up one of the shortest SKSD Board meetings that has taken place in the last near four years.

And BLRB rides off into the sunset..
