

It's noted that the SKSD Board Candidate claimed someone else put her sign on school property. Yet the Superintendent in answering this PDC complaint created map, drawing, parcel info to show that the sign was just a we bit outside school property. The Superintendent answered the complaint the same day the it was on PDC site. It would appear he believed a compliant would be filed on this location, thus pre-planned. A dirty trick to convince the voters the District was supporting three candidates. Ethics were skirted by doing this. if the candidates herself blamed someone else for putting her sign on school property, don't you think the Voters driving by - seeing the signs, would make a similar assumption?
